LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW FOR JANUARY. This number commences with an article on "Canada and the Northwest," in which the of that magnificent colony are set forth in glowing terms. The article on "The Welsh and their Literature" contains many interesting ex. glowing terms. Mr. Morrar's "History of the United Netherlands" is reviewed with commendations fortified by a variety of extracts.

"The Iron Manufacture" furnishes a brief history of that branch of industry, from insignificant beginnings to the enormous estimated product of the United Kingdom for the past year of 4,000,000 tons. The paper on "Italy" is rather more sympathizing with the recent events in that country than would naturally be expectthis number. It is succeeded by "The Income weiter has any peculiar satisfaction.

The "great gun" of the number is aimed at the well known work, "Essays and Reviews," which, being compiled by several Oxford Profeasors, has given rise to much discussion in England. It was recently reviewed in the Westminster, and those who wish to see what can be questions involved, should puruse the articles in the two Reviews.

This number of the London Quarterly commences a volume. It is published by L. Scorr & Co., 54 Gold Street, New York, at $3 a year; mins, Pleasant. with Blackwood, $5.

CABSELL'S ILLUSTRATED WORKS .- Two of these works, published by CASSELL, PETTER & GALPIN, New York, have fallen under our notice, namely, "Cassell's Illustrated Family Bible," and "Cassell's Popular Natural History." Both the works we have named are furnished in double parts, containing sixty-four pages, with elogant engravings, and coating thirty cents.

The "Illustrated Family Bible" is highly spoken of by divines and scholars, who have critically examined it. They commend it for the beautiful and original illustrations on almost every page, and the amount of information it Imparts in History and Antiquities, in Ancient Art and Geography, and in various branches of Natural Science, thus leading to a better understanding of the Scriptures.

The "Natural History" has profuse and exquisite engravings, and will comprise four volames—the first and second being devoted to Mammalia; the third to the Feathered Tribes, and the fearth to Reptiles and Fishes. No nily library should be without a work like

Mr Lincoln's Tariff Speech at Pittsburgh. Mr Lincoln's Tarin Speech at Pittsburga.

Pitrsburgu, Feb. 15.—The following is Mr. Lincoln's speech at Pittsburgh this morning, from his own manuscript: After alluding to our national troubles, only to say that the present crisis was an artificial one, and such as turbulent men may at any time create, Mr. Lincoln continued—It is often said that the tariff is the special pot fernaylynahis. Assuming that direct taxation is not to be adopted, the tariff question must be as durable as the Government itself. It is a question of national housekeeping.

of Pennsylvania. Assuming that direct taxation is not to be adopted, the tariff question must be as durable as the Government itself. It is a question of national housekeeping.

It is to the family. Every varying circumstance will require requent modifications as to amount needed and sources of supply. Bo far then there is little difference of opinion among the people. It is us to whether and how far duties on imports shall be adjusted to favor home productions in the home market that controversy begins. One party insists that such adjustment oppresses one class for the advantage of another, while the other party argues that with its facilitation, while the other party argues that with its facilitation and in the long run all classes are tenefited.

In the Chicago platform there is a plank upon this subject which should be a general law to the incoming Administration. We should do neither more nor less than we gave the people reason to believe we would when they gave us their votes. That plank is as I now read. The 12th resolution of the Chicago platform was here read.] As with all general propositions, there will be shades of difference in construing this. I have by no means a thoroughly matured judgment upon this subject, especially as to details. Some general ideas are aboutall.

I have long thought that to produce any necessary article, which can be made of as good a quality and with as little labor at home as abread, would be better made at home, at least by the difference of the carrying from abroad. In such case the carrying is demonstrably a dead loss of labor; for instance, labor being the true standard of value, is it not pain that if equal tabor get a tar of milroad iron out of a mine in England, and anotherout of a mine in Pennsylvania, each could be laid down on a track at home chaper than they could exchange countries, at least by the cost of carriage?

If there be a present cause why one can be made and carried cheaper than the other can be made without carrying, that cause is an unnatural and in

New York Cattle Market. WEBBERDAY, Feb. 13, 1851.

BEEF CATTLE.

Of all things which the buthers and cattle drovers and brokers dread, as exercising the most deleterious effect upon their particular branch of trade, quadragesina is the most dreaded. Accordingly, we were not surprised at finding a dull market at Buil's Head, though the receipts were not over and above heavy, and the average quality full as good as usual. For the medium and lower grades the demand was much lighter than usual, inconsequence of the Lenten season, and even the first class butchers manifested considerable tardiness in their selections Choice extra steers were in small supply, and the few that were on sate brought high prices, ranging from 9%@10%@11c. First class cattle cannot be quoted at over 9%, however, and a large proportion of good Western droves were held at about 8c. per pound. Butchers generally purchased as lightly as possible, anticipating a greatly diminished consumption during the observance of Lent. It was thought that quite a number would be left over unsold, but drovers put prices down very low, in order to insure sales, and it is probable that a large number were purchased during the latest hours of the day at our naide quotations. The market was very irregular and prices merely nominal, as in searcely any two yards were they the same, and the views of the brokers as to the current quotations varied materially. Many of the offerings were exposed to the severe weather during the week, and were looking, badly enough in connequence. The total number on sale at Allerton's was 3,073 head, and at all Richmond advices my that a conservative feeling pervades the Virginia Convention.

A compound remedy, designed to be the most effectual Alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarasparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the disease Sarasparilla is reputed to care. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their care must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted felloweitizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCHOPULA AND SCHOPULOUS COMPLAINTA, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PINPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SAIT RHEEM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIA AND SYPHILITIC APPECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DESIRETE, DYSPERSIA AND INDICESTION, EXTRIPETA, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from Inturnity of THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bad. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul cruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the by an alterative medicinic. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pumples, cruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even when when the property of the property you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations. for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla.

has followed the use of the various extracts of synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still
